A multifunctional glucoamylase from the actinomycete Thermomonospora fusca BCC6197. Thermomonospora fusca BCC6197 was isolated from soil and has been shown to produce both an amylolytic and a glucosyltransferase. The amylolytic activity has been purified to homogeneity by screening in a fermentor. This multifunctional enzyme is an endoglucanase with a molecular mass of approximately 122 kDa, which belongs to glycoside hydrolase family 65 (GH-65). The N-terminal sequence of the enzyme and its amylolytic activity were determined. The amylolytic activity was optimally expressed at a pH of 4.5 and at a temperature of 37 degrees C, while the enzyme was optimally active at pH 3.5 and at a temperature of 65 degrees C.
